Introduction

Recycling is the process of transforming waste into usable resources. Recycling reduces waste, saves landfill space, conserves resources, and protects the environment.

This directory is designed to help Idaho businesses and residents identify safe management and recycling options for wastes.

Types of listings

To assist companies and residents with disposal and recycling decisions, this directory includes several categories of resources.¹

Recycling Companies by Material This section lists many common products and local or regional companies or programs that accept those products. Many will accept waste from either businesses or residents. It is best to call the company or program prior to taking wastes to them. (Section 3)

Community Recycling and Household Hazardous Waste Programs Some counties and cities oversee recycling programs and disposal of common wastes for citizens. This list highlights waste programs throughout Idaho, including curbside recycling, drop-off recycling, and household hazardous waste programs. (Section 4)

Waste Exchanges Waste exchanges are organizations that match surplus products with new users. Many are online services that can assist in recycling a waste or finding a needed product. (Section 5)

Alphabetical Index Refer to the Alphabetical Index for more information on a particular company. (Section 6)

For more information

For more information on waste reduction and recycling, call the Idaho Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) Pollution Prevention Program at (208) 373-0502.

¹ DEQ is providing this list as a public service only and does not certify or recommend any businesses listed.

Every attempt has been made to include all Idaho recyclers in this directory. The printed directory is updated approximately every two years. If an omission is noted, contact DEQ or visit our Web site for a listing form at www.deq.idaho.gov/waste/recycling/add_me_new.cfm.

Every attempt has been made to provide accurate information. It is strongly suggested, however, to call BEFORE taking waste to the companies listed in this directory to make sure they can or will accept the material and to learn of any applicable requirements.

DEQ's online recycling directory

An online version of this directory can be found at www.deq.idaho.gov/waste/recycling/recycle_home.cfm and is updated as new information becomes available.

Recycling in Idaho - An Overview

What is recycling?

Recycling is the process of transforming waste into usable resources. Recycling is one of several options to manage wastes. Other options include eliminating or reducing the generation of waste or reusing an item prior to recycling.

Why recycle?

Recycling is preferable to disposal because it conserves energy and reduces waste. Much less energy is needed to make recycled materials into new products than is needed to use new, “virgin” raw materials. Recycling also conserves natural resources and prevents pollution. Manufacturing using recycled materials is usually much cleaner than manufacturing products from new resources. Recycling also avoids the costs of disposing of waste in landfills or incinerators and creates jobs in areas where reprocessing facilities are located.

How does recycling work?

Recycling is a five-stage, closed-loop process. As depicted below, it begins with the purchase of recycled products or products that are made of or packaged in materials that can be recycled. The products are then collected for recycling, prepared for shipping, shipped to market, and finally reprocessed into new products or materials.

Recycling and Residents

Who is in charge of recycling in Idaho?

Recycling, like garbage collection, is an optional service in Idaho provided at the discretion of local governments or by private recycling companies. Although the state has no mandated waste diversion or recycling goal, pollution prevention and recycling are supported and encouraged through public education and outreach activities conducted by DEQ.

What recycling programs are available for Idaho residents?

Because recycling services are under the jurisdiction of local governments, recycling programs vary widely, depending upon availability and proximity to reprocessing facilities and markets for recyclable materials. Major types of recycling programs in Idaho include:

Curbside Collection

Some communities have partnered with private trash-hauling companies to provide curbside collection of recyclable materials for their residents. This is the most convenient collection method. Curbside collection is efficient in densely populated areas where large volumes of recyclable materials can be collected in each truckload. The cost of collection may outweigh the value of the recyclable materials collected, however. Collection costs may be included in residents' solid waste bills or subsidized with local tax dollars.

Community Drop-Off Sites

In many communities, recycling drop-off sites are available to residents. Drop-off sites may be sponsored by the local community or a community organization and are often located in public or large store parking lots. Although not as convenient as curbside collection, drop-off sites are a more economical method of providing recycling services, especially in rural areas. Collection costs are lower and may be subsidized with local tax dollars or donated by local community organizations.

Household Hazardous Waste Programs

Some communities and landfills offer household hazardous waste (HHW) programs for residents and small businesses. These programs collect wastes that are potentially dangerous to human health and the environment, such as oils, household cleaners, pesticides, paints, batteries, and metals. If possible, the wastes are recycled. If the product cannot be recycled, it may be treated to isolate the toxic parts and/or disposed of using additional containment measures.

Private Recycling Centers

In some areas, private recycling companies maintain facilities where they collect and bale recycled products for shipment to market. Residents may drop off recyclables at these centers, often receiving nominal payment for the materials they bring in.

What determines which products can be recycled?

Like any other enterprise, recycling is a business. To survive, it must be profitable for those who own and run the business. Also, like any other business, recycling depends upon supply and demand. Often, supply and demand of recyclable materials are out-of-sync in today's world economy, which results in volatile markets and unstable prices for recyclable materials.

Recycling in Idaho is limited by its geographic isolation from reprocessing facilities and markets. Recyclable materials must be shipped long distances, which can be very costly, especially for heavy materials like glass. Collection and transportation costs can outweigh the value of the recyclable materials.

Recycling in Idaho is also limited by the relatively low cost of disposal. In states where landfill space is limited and disposal costs are high, the economic incentive to recycle is strong because it is often cheaper than throwing products away. Traditionally, Idaho has benefited from ample landfill space, which has kept disposal costs low. As a result, it is often cheaper to dispose of products than to recycle them. During the 1990s, many smaller landfills were closed because of new, more stringent environmental standards developed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Despite fewer landfills, disposal fees have remained low compared to neighboring states. As existing landfills fill up, however, it will be necessary to build new landfills, which are very expensive to construct. Higher disposal fees will be needed to cover the cost of building new landfills, which may tip the economic incentive to recycling and pollution prevention.

How can I find out about recycling opportunities in my community?

This guide lists recycling options by county including private and public curbside recycling programs, recycling drop-off sites, and household hazardous waste programs. While every attempt has been made to ensure the information in this guide is complete and up-to-date, recycling programs grow and change quickly. To identify additional recycling opportunities in your community, contact your city's public works department, which traditionally administers municipal sanitation programs. Your trash hauler also may be able to provide information on recycling in your area.

What can I do?

Minimize Waste Reuse items, buy products in bulk to reduce packaging, and be a careful consumer to reduce the amount of waste you generate.

Buy Recycled Buying recycled products will help create markets for recycled goods.

Recycle What You Can This directory lists many options to recycle common products.

Recycle Non-Traditional Items Look for recycling opportunities for non-traditional products. For example, many packages are cushioned with Styrofoam peanuts. Some mailing companies collect these peanuts and reuse them, saving them money and keeping this product out of the landfill. Similarly, many grocery stores collect plastic shopping bags and garden stores often take back plastic plant containers.

Volunteer Is your recycling collection site community-run? Volunteer to help out with a community collection day.

Pay for Recycling Services Some recycling options may cost money. By paying for these services, you can support recycling and keep waste out of the landfill. For example, most computer manufacturers offer computer-recycling services. For a small fee, they will pick up and ship your old PCs or components to a facility for reprocessing. Visit their Web sites for more information.

Recycling and Businesses

Businesses face different disposal issues, including larger quantities of waste, disposal of hazardous wastes, and higher disposal costs. At the same time, due to the volume and nature of wastes they generate, businesses may have more recycling options, including waste exchanges, waste management companies, and marketers.

The best option for any business is to minimize the amount of waste generated. But if the waste is generated, recycling is an appealing alternative. Recycling waste is just one of several alternatives to disposal. Other waste management techniques include:

Eliminate The best way to manage a potentially harmful waste is to examine why the waste is generated. Changing a process, using different raw materials, or modifying the product may prevent the waste from being generated in the first place.

Reduce If the waste cannot be eliminated, try to find ways to reduce either the amount or toxicity of the waste. Some simple ideas to consider are substituting other less toxic raw materials, preventing leaks and spills, and keeping wastes segregated.

Reuse If the waste cannot be eliminated or reduced, try to identify a way to reuse the waste or another business that can use the waste in its process. A waste exchange company may be of assistance in identifying options.

Recycle After trying to eliminate, reduce, or reuse the waste, the next option is recycling.

These techniques refocus waste management practices from disposing of to producing less waste. Preventing pollution is the ultimate goal. Many businesses find waste reduction and recycling beneficial and sometimes profitable. Some of the benefits of waste reduction are:

- Saving money
- Reducing regulatory requirements
- Improving workplace safety and health conditions
- Reducing likelihood of spills and leaks
- Reducing long-term liabilities
- Avoiding costs of transportation and disposal
- Saving on raw material and manufacturing costs
- Demonstrating concern for public health and the environment

Recycling options for businesses

Businesses may want to look outside their own companies for assistance in reducing or managing wastes. Many companies can assist a business in finding ways to reduce waste and prevent pollution.

Suppliers and Vendors

Most companies rely on vendors to supply raw materials for their processes. Companies should work with vendors to identify less toxic raw materials, recycled products, and recyclable products. Vendors may help a company reduce waste by agreeing to take back unused product or packaging materials or answering technical questions about the products they sell.

Waste Management Companies

Businesses that generate hazardous waste may be able to manage their waste with the assistance of a waste management company. These companies may specialize in a particular waste such as used oil, or may handle a variety of wastes. They may also offer additional services such as testing, transport, and sales.

On-Site Recycling

It may be cost-effective for a business to recycle some products on-site. Often, the cost of the equipment needed can be recovered over several years by reduced disposal costs. Examples of on-site recycling include treated wastewater, antifreeze recycling units, and solvent recycling units. On-site energy recovery from used oil also could be considered an on-site option.

Marketers

Used oil marketers can help companies comply with state and federal used oil management rules. Oil can be burned to create energy. Marketers direct shipments of used oil to a used oil burner for energy recovery. Marketers must have an EPA identification number and meet strict federal requirements.

Waste Exchanges

What one company considers trash may be another's raw material. Waste exchanges facilitate the exchange of wastes from one company to another. Waste exchanges may help find a buyer for wastes, unused products, or surplus inventory.

Trade Associations

Trade associations often provide guidance on best management practices for their sectors that can help companies reduce waste and save money.

Managing hazardous wastes

Businesses must determine if the wastes they generate are hazardous and, if so, handle them according to state and federal regulations. Disposal and recycling options for wastes depend on their nature (hazardous or non-hazardous) and the volume of waste generated.

Hazardous waste is defined by the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) as “any solid, liquid or contained gaseous material that is no longer of use, and which, if improperly stored, transported, or disposed of, can cause injury or death to humans, or can damage or pollute land, air or water.” Under RCRA, hazardous wastes fall into two categories: characteristic and listed.

“Characteristic” or “D” wastes are separated into four categories: ignitable, reactive, corrosive, or TCLP (toxicity characteristic leaching procedure) toxic.

- Ignitable wastes are easily combustible or flammable.
- Reactive wastes are unstable or undergo rapid or violent chemical reactions with water or other materials.
- Corrosive wastes burn the skin or dissolve metals and other material.
- TCLP toxic wastes exist if an extract from the waste is tested and found to contain high concentrations of specific chemicals, pesticides, or heavy metals that could be released into the environment.

“Listed” wastes are divided into four groups: “K,” “F,” “P,” and “U.”

- “K” and “F” listed wastes are determined by their sources.
- “P” and “U” listed wastes have specific chemical constituents.

For assistance in determining the status of a waste, contact a hazardous materials contractor, laboratory, or your nearest DEQ regional office (see back cover for contact information).

Hazardous waste must be disposed of in an appropriate manner. The amount of waste generated determines available management options. The law classifies businesses that produce hazardous wastes into one of three categories:

Conditionally Exempt Generators produce fewer than 220 pounds of hazardous waste material and 2.2 pounds of acutely hazardous wastes per month. They are exempt from most regulatory requirements. There are limits, however, on the total quantity of waste material and length of time any business may store hazardous waste materials, and on disposal options.

Small Quantity Generators are companies that produce more than 220 pounds, but fewer than 2,200 pounds, of hazardous waste materials. Small Quantity Generators are subject to regulatory requirements governing the handling, storage, transportation, and disposal of hazardous materials.

Large Quantity Generators are those producing more than 2,200 pounds of hazardous waste material or more than 2.2 pounds of acutely hazardous waste per month. Large Quantity Generators must comply with extensive waste management rules and regulations.

Section 3

Recycling and Disposal Options by Material

The companies listed accept products for recycling. Be sure to call the company first as many have hour restrictions, transport, labeling, or cost requirements. Communities with household hazardous waste programs or recycling programs also are listed. Please note that community programs may not always recycle the waste. Instead, the waste is collected separately from trash to be disposed of in a designated part of the landfill or pretreated prior to disposal.

Ammunition/Explosives

Ammunition and explosives are dangerous. If you find a material that you believe to be explosive, contact your local fire department for an assessment of the product. Fire officials will arrange for disposal of explosive materials. In addition, many local law enforcement agencies will accept unused ammunition.

Batteries

Many of the facilities listed here will take batteries for safe disposal or recycling. Many landfills dispose of batteries in a special area of the landfill or place in a secondary storage container prior to disposal.

Rechargeable batteries may be recycled through non-profit organization, Rechargeable Battery Recycling Corporation. This organization partners with local governments and office supply and home improvement stores to offer drop-off sites for rechargeable batteries. It accepts all types of rechargeable batteries including nickel cadmium, nickel metal hydride, lithium ion, and small sealed lead. To find a drop-off location near you, visit its Web site at www.rbrc.org or call (949) 215-4620.

Pesticides and pesticide containers

In addition to the programs listed below, the Idaho State Department of Agriculture (ISDA) conducts pesticide collections throughout Idaho to assist growers, homeowners, dealers, and applicators with disposal of unusable pesticides. Visit www.agri.idaho.gov/Categories/Pesticides/pdp/indexdisposalmain.php to learn more.

CROP (Container Recycling Operation) is a joint venture by the Idaho Crop Production Association (IPCA), Idaho Agricultural Aviation Association (IAAA), and other agricultural industries, professional lawn care companies, and ISDA. This program sponsors collection days around Idaho to collect and recycle non-degradable plastic pesticide and crop production containers. For more information and a schedule of collection days in your area, visit <http://www.agri.idaho.gov/Categories/Pesticides/container/indexcontainermain.php>.

Electronic Waste (E-Waste)

Electronic waste, or e-waste as it is commonly referred to, is unwanted, obsolete, or unusable electronic products such as computers and computer peripherals, televisions, VCRs, DVD players, stereo equipment, and handheld cell phones. E-waste contains metals such as lead, mercury, and cadmium. Landfill owners and operators are concerned with potential long-term human health and environmental impacts from leaching of heavy metals from e-waste into ground water.

In addition to the programs listed below, many manufacturers of electronics offer take-back programs to recycle their products. Below are the Web sites for some major manufactures.

Manufacturer Web Sites

Company	Web Site
Dell	www.dell.com
Hewlett Packard (HP)	www.hp.com
IBM	www.ibm.com/us
Micron PC	www.buympc.com
Xerox	www.xerox.com

Cartridges (copier/printer/toner)

Many programs can assist your facility or household in recycling printer cartridges. Some office supply stores provide prepaid envelopes to ship cartridges to recycling facilities. Many printer and computer manufacturers have recycling programs for their products. Visit the manufacturer Web sites above for more information.

Computers

Computers contain lead, mercury, cadmium, chromium, and other hazardous materials and should not be disposed of in a landfill. Preferable alternatives include donating old PCs to charities or recycling. In addition to the companies listed below, most major computer manufacturers offer computer recycling services. For a small fee, they will pick up the computer, monitor, or other parts regardless of brand, recover the useable parts, and donate working components to charities. Visit their Web sites (p. 36) for more information.

Lighting (Ballasts/Fluorescent Light Bulbs)

Fluorescent lamps contain mercury and, depending on type, may be considered a hazardous waste. Residents should check with local landfills or public works departments to see if a community program to recycle household hazardous wastes is available. Waste management companies often can assist businesses in recycling this hazardous waste.

Packing materials

Many shipping stores recycle packing materials (such as Styrofoam peanuts). In addition to the programs listed below, the “Peanut Hotline,” sponsored by the Plastic Loose Fill Council, allows consumers to locate the closest mailing store that accepts polystyrene loose fill for reuse through a network of more than 1,000 participating sites. Call (800) 828-2214 or visit www.loosefillpackaging.com for more information.

Section 4

Community Recycling Options

Many cities and counties offer recycling programs for their residents and small businesses. These programs may include services such as drop-off sites, curbside pickup, and household hazardous waste programs. Following is a list by county of community programs in Idaho. Some programs are run by private companies, but offer free recycling services to residents. The programs listed here are also listed in Section 3 under materials handled.

The following terms are used in this section:

Household Hazardous Waste Programs (HHW). Programs range from annual collection days to weekly collection sites. Call program for details.

Recycling Programs. These are community-based recycling programs. They fall into two categories: drop-off site (DP) and pickup (PK). Call first to find out hours or restrictions that may apply.

Waste Exchanges

In some situations, a waste may be traded or sold to another company or individual for use as a raw material. This practice is more environmentally friendly than disposal and can lower disposal costs for one company and raw material costs for the other company. Waste information exchanges publish catalogs listing wanted and available wastes in quantity. Contact waste exchanges for detailed information about their services and to receive catalogs. Also visit the Freecycle Network at www.freecycle.org. The Freecycle Network provides individuals and nonprofits an electronic forum to recycle unwanted items. Everything posted is free.

Additional Resources

Association of Idaho Recyclers

The Association of Idaho Recyclers (AIR) provides a forum and information resource for Idahoans working or interested in recycling and waste reduction issues. Contact AIR at Association of Idaho Recyclers, P.O. Box 2532, Twin Falls, ID 83303, 208-432-5536, www.idahorecyclers.org.

Public Works Departments

City and counties administer solid waste, landfill, recycling, and household hazardous waste programs through city or county public works or solid waste departments. Check with your local public works or solid waste department to learn more about programs or services offered in your community.

Landfills/Waste Haulers

Landfills determine the wastes they will accept and may be able to point you toward recycling options. They can also instruct you on any special waste requirements, such as quantity restrictions or packing preferences, that may exist when disposing materials at their facilities.

Idaho Department of Environmental Quality

DEQ is the state government agency responsible for ensuring clean air, water, and land in the state and for protecting Idaho citizens from the adverse health impacts of pollution. DEQ can assist businesses and residents in finding recycling programs, answer waste management questions, and provide technical assistance to businesses. Contact DEQ at:
